

Children's Needs Are Now Many

They can be satisfactorily supplied at this store. Though our Children's Wear Section is not given as much publicity as some of the other departments, it is just as important to us. There are new styles in Children's Apparel as in Garments for the grown-ups.

Children's Fall and Winter Coats

The sudden changes in the weather demand that every child be supplied with proper weight clothes. Our New Fall and Winter Coats are now ready in all sizes.

Priced from $3.98 to $10.00

Children's Serge Dresses at $2.75

These are Dresses for girls from 2 to 12 years, made of good quality Serges in Red and Blue. Particularly well-made garments for the school girl.

Children's Sweater Coats

Just the thing for the little tots on these cold, chilly days. These are the kind of days that give the little ones rosy cheeks, and the fresh air does them a world of good. But you must keep them warmly clothed, and nothing is more desirable than a Sweater Coat.

Prices range from $1.00 to $3.98

Children's Hats

We have just received a new line of Children's Hats in nobby styles that are just the thing for school wear.

Priced at 50c and $1.00

MONTPELIER

With one of the huskiest elevens which has represented the school for several years, Montpelier seminary will open its football season to-morrow afternoon at Barre with Spaulding high school. The seminary squad, which comprises over two elevens, has been practicing hard for over a week under the watchful eye of Coach William T. Maiden, a member of the faculty, and promises to give a good account of itself in the opening and remaining games of the schedule. The team is composed almost entirely of veterans with several new backfield men who have shown up remarkably well in practice. The first home game takes place Oct. 7, with St. Johnsbury academy.

Mrs. A. F. Wolfslagger of Detroit, Mich., a prominent club woman of that city, who has been visiting at the Unitarian parsonage with Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Carson, left last evening for her home.

In probate court to-day Celeste Bianchi settled his account as administrator of the estate of Attilio Bottiggi. Mrs. Tenie C. Shonio was appointed administratrix of the estate of James E. Crossett, late of Duxbury. Arthur Stevart of Berlin settled his account as guardian of Helen M. Taft.

Attorney Arthur C. Theriault was in Woodbury to-day participating in a law case which was tried before a justice of the peace in that town.

Miss Florence Perkins left this forenoon for White River Junction, where she will make a two weeks' visit with her sister.

Mrs. Julius Bruce of 91 Main street suffered a shock at her home yesterday afternoon and is in a critical condition, not having regained consciousness. She recently moved here from Barre.

Baseball fans in Montpelier and vicinity who are not planning to journey to Boston to attend the world series games will be pleased to learn that the Playograph, the electric scoreboard operated last fall in the city hall, is to again depict the games play by play, according to an announcement made to-day by Messrs. Daly, Meigs and Berry of Montpelier. The board has been stored in the city hall and will be set up in the city hall auditorium early next week. Two experts from the Playograph factory will operate the board.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Mrs. William Wright left to-day for Redstone, N. H., where she is to make a visit of several days with her brother, George Petrie.

John M. Martin, who has been visiting friends on Jefferson street during the past week, left this noon for his home in St. Johnsbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams have returned to their home in Woodsville, N. H., after spending the past two days in Barre on business.

Mrs. Charles Farquarson, who has been visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Shores of South Barre, returned this forenoon to her home in Windsor.

There will be a regular meeting of L. A. O. H. Hall, Wednesday night at 7:30 in K. of C. hall. A report of the convention will be given. Refreshments. A large attendance is desired.

Mrs. Ellen C. Moore of the Miles building, who sustained painful injuries in a fall early yesterday morning, submitted to a second X-ray examination this forenoon to determine the exact nature of her injuries. Mrs. Moore is a patient at the City hospital. Her son, Henry Moore of Ausable, N. Y., arrived in Barre this morning.

The evening school at Goddard seminary opens to-night at 7 o'clock. The sessions will be held Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 7 to 9. The subjects taught are shorthand, typewriting, penmanship, bookkeeping, commercial arithmetic and English. Tuition, $10 a term, one-half of which is payable in advance.—adv.

Baptists of the Vermont state convention are having the week to themselves in Chester and among the Barre people who are attending are Rev. Bert J. Lehigh of the First Baptist church, Rev. N. C. Edwall, pastor of the Swedish Baptist mission, and Rev. Dr. J. F. Piani, who is in charge of the Swedish Baptist mission on Brook street. Revs. Edwall and Piani are to tell of their work in Barre while the convention is under way. Rev. Mr. Lehigh is attending his first state gathering of the Vermont convention.

Inquiry concerning the standing of the Vermont State league, which closed its season last week, develops the information that Rutland lead the league by a comfortable margin, with Barre's Italian A. C. team as the runner-up. Patrons of the league games have been numerous in the four cities represented, but confusion at headquarters has led to doubt and misunderstanding where the team averages are involved. Rutland took every game from Montpelier and every game from Barre, although one contest was forfeited to the local team when the Marble city boys failed to appear on the Berlin street grounds a few weeks ago. Rutland lost four games to Burlington and with the additional exception of the forfeited game, every other contest was a victory for the league leaders. In the late days of summer Barre displaced Burlington as the second contender, Montpelier, with a long, long string of defeats, may claim the cellar championship, although it may be said that the Capital city team was confronted with obstacles that might have worked to the complete elimination of any other team so situated.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Mansing 'underwear' at Abbott's. F. Badger of Cabot was a business visitor in the city this morning.

Albert Goodrich of Williamstown was in the city on business this forenoon. Mrs. Louis Drake of Ayers street has gone to Northfield for a visit of several days with friends.

State's Atty. Frank S. Williams of Bradford was among the business visitors in the city to-day.

A. L. Bernstein of Boston, who has been in the city on business for a few days, left this noon for his home.

The latest in millinery, best in quality at lowest possible prices. Mrs. Birnie, 3 Pleasant street, off Brook street.

Mrs. F. N. Champlin, who has been visiting friends in and around Barre for several days, left this noon for Boston. Latest millinery at lowest prices. Hats trimmed free all this week. Mrs. H. S. Miles, 200 North Main street, over Dodge's Jewelry store.

Mr. and Mrs. David Farrand of North Main street returned to their home this morning after visiting friends in Burlington over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Balch, who have been visiting friends and relatives in Barre and vicinity since their arrival in the East from Los Angeles last spring, left yesterday for Boston, where they will reside during the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hill, who have been visiting friends and relatives on the Montpelier road during the past week, left this noon for Burlington, where they will visit their son, William Hill, for a few days before going to their home in Rutland.

Herbert Sheldon of North Main street returned to his home this morning after taking a treatment at the Mary Fletcher hospital in Burlington for two weeks.

Mr. Sheldon went to Burlington with the intention of submitting to an operation, but his condition was too delicate for the doctors to perform the surgical operation.

More of the sham-battle maneuvers practiced by the city council last week are in prospect for this evening's aldermanic session if any of the members have the temerity to touch upon the question of street appropriations. The line of cleavage among the aldermen is pretty well divided between the members who suspect favoritism and extravagance in spending street money and those who scoff at any reflection on the thriftiness of the street or water committees. Street and water money furnish a sensitive topic and if the city fathers are bent on attending strictly to business probably they will relegate that topic to the rear. It is expected that the city engineer will have a report on the proposed resurvey of Pike street and if a desirable candidate has been found the mayor may appoint a city physician. It develops that no one bid on the paving project and all plans for improving South Main street have been shelved until spring.

First among several members of Clan Gordon, No. 12, O. S. C. of Barre to be wounded while in the service of the king "somewhere in France" is George Thompson, son of W. Thompson of Farwell street, who is in a local hospital with three wounds, according to advices received by his family. Private Thompson enlisted with a Canadian contingent more than a year ago and numbers among his company comrades William Hurry, a Barre blacksmith who was formerly prominent in local talent productions. The contingent to which Mr. Thompson was attached has been seeing active service for several months. The first news of his injuries was received through the medium of a Montreal newspaper, which contained a list of casualties among Canadian soldiers. Later, the report was verified. The reports do not indicate that the young man is past recovery. On the contrary, relatives of the soldier have reason to be optimistic concerning his condition.

Regular meeting of Iroquois tribe, No. 16, I. O. R. M., to-night at 7:30. Work, adoption and warrior's degrees.

Regular stated convention of Vincennes lodge, No. 10, K. of P., to be held to-night at 8 o'clock.

Contractor E. N. Normandeau, who has been passing a few days at his home on Merchant street, returned this morning to Springfield, where he has the oversight of the construction work on a cement bridge which he is building for the village corporation. The structure is of reinforced concrete and Mr. Normandeau expects to deliver it to the village fathers within a fortnight. The local contractor also has a gang of men engaged on a bridge and highway project in Wolcott which will require several days to complete.

Miss W. Ruth Glyson of Perry street and Miss Mary A. Bishop of Beacon street, who were members of the 1916 class at Spaulding high school, left this morning for Burlington, where they are to enroll as first year students in the University of Vermont. Miss Rachel Dix also went to Burlington to pursue a course of study in the state university.

Hugh Cole, who has been employed in Barre and vicinity during the summer, returned to-day to Burlington to enter upon his second year in the state university. Raymond S. Martin, who has been passing the summer at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. D. Martin of Averill street, returned to-day to Middletown, Conn., to resume his studies in Wesleyan university. Andrew Blackmore will resume his studies at Wesleyan this week.

Chicago newspapers contain brief accounts of the destruction by fire late last week of the stonemasonry owned by Charles S. Blake in the Windy city.

Barre granite cutters almost without number have had kits in the Blake plant at one time or another in the past 20 years. The ruined building was a brick structure with which every stonemason who ever visited Chicago was familiar, inasmuch as it was located in a section where much of Chicago's stonemasonry industry is centered. The fire occurred late in the afternoon just as the men were about to leave the shed. The loss was not covered by insurance and it is understood that Mr. Blake will not rebuild in Chicago. Barre quarries furnished the bulk of the stock used in the plant and some very large memorials were under the hammer when the building was destroyed. James Wood, Walter Sim and John Jacques were among the cutters employed at the plant who formerly lived in Barre.

Barre granite was used with unusually successful results in a strikingly beautiful memorial erected to the memory of the late Rt. Rev. Monsignor Charles McCready, for many years pastor of the Church of the Holy Cross in New York. The monument, a Celtic cross of splendid proportions, was unveiled in Calvary cemetery in New York last week and an extended account of the dedication exercises, together with a lengthy description of the memorial appears in the current issue of the Catholic News, which follows its description of the cross as follows: "The beautiful monument was executed by the Lavery Granite company of New York. It is cut from the very highest quality of Barre, Vermont, granite. The memorial is a true Celtic cross. When asked to submit a design for Monsignor McCready's memorial, the design took into consideration the character of the man and tried to embody them in his memorial."

Perry Oliver, who was in the hospital at Claremont, N. H., over a week with blood poisoning in his left leg, was able to make the trip from Claremont to Barre Saturday and return yesterday. Mr. Oliver was spiked in the leg in a baseball game at Claremont about three weeks ago as he was about to tag a man sliding into first base. While he thought nothing of the injury at the time, blood poisoning resulted and he has not been able to work until this week.

Through the purchase of a big wood lot on the upper side of Berlin pond, Anthony Tomasi is to give play to an ambitious reclamation plan this fall and winter. The tract, consisting of 217 acres, has been purchased by Mr. Tomasi from Hughes & Merritt, who have already given possession. The land abounds in hard and soft wood and will have extensive lumbering operations. The prettiest slopes in the vicinity of the pond, Mr. Tomasi expects to redeem the stump area by clearing it of all encumbrances as soon as the timber is cut. In a few years he apprehends that a thriving 217-acre farm will be ready for tenancy. Sometime this fall the new owner expects to erect a portable mill in the woodlot and operations on a large scale will be under way before snow flies.

Guests arriving at Hotel Barre last night and this morning included the following people: Dr. G. L. Gilchrist, Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Hill of Redlands, Cal.; Mrs. G. A. L. Gilchrist of New York and R. P. "Play Awhile," is the title of a dramatic second reader for the second school year which Little, Brown & Co. of Boston announce as one of their fall publications. Miss Margaret A. Doherty, in charge of the second-year children in the Summer street school, is the author of the little textbook, which is receiving many commendatory notices from teachers abroad and here in the city. The title page gives the author as "Miss Margaret A. Doherty, teacher in the public schools of Barre, Vermont." The collection of stories is for the most part adaptations of Esop's fables and folk lore of many countries and is designed for both reading and dramatization, but primarily for reading. Three of the contributions are original. Miss Doherty being the author of "Foolish Flies," "What Mother Says is Always Right," and "A Mother Goose Alphabet." The book, which is admirably illustrated with page and half-page plates, several of them in color, is dedicated to Miss Leda R. Steverson, a member of the teachers' corps in the Barre schools and a long-time friend of the writer.
